Narrative

INFORMATION REPORT:

SYNOPSIS: [REDACTED] reported that his 13 year old son was contacted by an unknown number and left a message in regards to a business dealing with [REDACTED]'s brother [REDACTED] who owns Bricks and Mini Figs in Provo. [REDACTED] is concerned that more people will attempt to contact him due to [REDACTED]'s business dealings. Case linked with Provo PD case [REDACTED]. No threats were made, and nothing criminal occurred in today's incident.

DETAILS:

On May 29th, 2026 at approximately 1:52pm, I contacted complainant [REDACTED] by phone to discuss what was reported as a threatening message.

[REDACTED] stated that his 13 year old son received text messages related to a business owned by his two brothers, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. The business is called Bricks and Mini Figs. [REDACTED] explained that a YouTuber exposed his brothers for something shady and an online community began sending threats to his brothers, their wives, and their children. [REDACTED] stated that the online community recently began researching extended family members and contacting siblings.

[REDACTED] stated the phone number his son uses was previously registered in [REDACTED]'s name. His 13-year-old son received multiple phone calls around 9:00am that morning from an unverified number. The son answered the last call but no one responded on the other end before hanging up. [REDACTED] provided the phone number as [REDACTED]. Following the calls, his son received a text message that read: "Tell [REDACTED] to do the right thing or Lego will drop him. They may still drop him even if he does. HQ in Connecticut has been informed and HQ in Denmark is being informed. Do the right thing. God bless."

[REDACTED] stated he does not associate with his brothers often and has no involvement in their business or personal lives. He expressed concern that his family would begin receiving death threats similar to those his brothers' families had already received. [REDACTED] noted that while this message was not a death threat, he was concerned about unsolicited contact directed at his 13-year-old son. [REDACTED] stated his other siblings had been receiving messages on Facebook and Instagram, and all family members' social media accounts had been attacked.

[REDACTED] stated his brother [REDACTED], who serves as Chief Operating Officer of Bricks and Mini Figs, instructed him to contact Provo Police Department because they had an open case regarding these threats. [REDACTED] told [REDACTED] that Provo Police had an active report and would likely take action because the matter involved a minor. [REDACTED] did not have a Provo Police case number.

I advised [REDACTED] to place strict filters on social media accounts and to block and report any unknown numbers as spam. I explained that law enforcement options were limited unless actual threats meeting a specific threshold were received. I suggested [REDACTED] consider changing his son's phone number and looking into identity theft protection services that could remove contact information from internet searches. [REDACTED] said he would look into that.

I explained that because the issue appeared related to his brothers' business, any future incidents should be reported to Provo Police Department if they were actively investigating. I advised that if the contact escalated, he should contact the Provo detective handling the case to link the incidents together. I provided [REDACTED] with case number 26OR10603 for this report. I located Provo PD case number [REDACTED] and have linked the cases.

It should be noted that no specific threats were made towards [REDACTED], or his son. This report is for information only.

Nothing further.
